2. Inventive Step

The present application relates to a multifunctional notebook for a user to identify recorded data at a glance.

Claim 1 claims a multifunctional notebook, wherein a plurality of recording sheets are formed to be folded in an accordion style and fixed to one side of the cover. Said multifunctional notebook is characterized in that a title section and an information section are provided in a direction perpendicular to a direction along which the plurality of recording sheets are connected to one another.

D1 relates to a reporting paper wherein recording sheets are formed to be folded by a dotted line and fixed to a cover.

Claim 1 is the same as D1 in that a plurality of recording sheets folded in an accordion style at an inner portion of the cover are formed to be fixed to one side of the cover. However, claim 1 differs from D1 in the information input means formed at the plurality of recording sheets.
